Picnics and fishing yarns will soon be order.

The Intelligencer's subscription list continues to increase.

Mr. D. Cardwell, of the C. & G. R. R., was in the city last Friday.

C. C. Featherston, Esq., of Laurens, is in the city visiting his parents.

Read Kay & Baker's new advertisement, and learn the prices of their goods.

The work of placing the machinery in the Cotton Mills is progressing finely.

The Sullivan Hardware Co. have a new advertisement in another column. Read it.

Up to March 1st Anderson's total cotton receipts for this season amount to 22,667 bales.

Mr. W. W. Kays, of Greenville, spent Monday in the city, and gave the Intelligencer a call.

The postoffice site at Crayton has been changed one mile west, and Pierce B. Griffin appointed postmaster.

Saturday attracted a very large crowd to the city, but the order was good and the police made few arrests.

The demand for fertilizers is so great that some of our merchants can't keep a sufficient amount in stock.

Governor Richardson has re-appointed W. S. Brown, Esq., Supervisor of Registration for Anderson County.

Hon. J. S. Murray spent a short while in his office Tuesday. He is still quite feeble, but is slowly improving.

We learn that new steel rails will be placed on the C. & G. R. R. between Broadway and the city.

Married, on Sunday, March 2, 1890, by F. A. Daniels, Notary Public, Mr. Robt. J. Tucker, and Mrs. Mary Vickrey.

Rev. V. I. Masters, of York County, is spending a few days in this County, visiting his mother and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Brown left the city Tuesday to spend awhile at Glenn's Springs, on account of the former's health.

The heavy rains of last week were very general throughout the country, and in some sections considerable damage was done.

The Southern Baptist Convention meets at Fort Worth, Texas, in May, and a number of our citizens will visit that State at that time.

Four car loads of negroes passed up the Blue Ridge Road last Thursday evening on their way West. They were from North Carolina.

Married, on Sunday, February 23, 1890, by John M. Glenn, Notary Public, at his residence, Mr. Walter Pison and Miss Ella McCabe.

The Honea Path High School will give a concert on to-morrow (Friday) evening. We have received a very cordial invitation to attend.

Married, Jan. M. Sullivan, and T. S. Crayton, went to Gainesville, Ga., Monday on business connected with the Anderson Shoe Factory.

We are glad to note that Capt. Billy Smith is again able to be at his post of duty as Conductor on the Blue Ridge passenger train.

There will be no services in the Presbyterian Church next Sunday. Dr. Frieson, the pastor, will preach at Mt. Zion Church that day.

Married, on Sunday, March 2, 1890, by Rev. R. M. King, at his residence, Mr. Turner Fields and Miss Lula Taylor, both of Anderson County.

The up passenger train on the C. & G. R. R. was delayed six hours or more last Saturday on account of a wash-out on the road, near Columbia.

A meeting of the Stockholders of the Anderson Hotel Company will be held in Judge Cox's office next Monday, 10th inst., at 4 o'clock p. m.

We are requested by the Trustees to announce that the public schools of Greenville and Varnes Townships will close on Friday, 14th inst.

The Anderson Dramatic Club is rehearsing an interesting drama, and as soon as the Opera House is finished will appear before the foot-lights.

The Milledgeville Alliance will hold an important meeting next Saturday afternoon at half past one o'clock. All of the members are urged to attend.

An interesting problem is now being discussed. If a tree falls in the forest or plain with no living being within hearing of it, will there be any sound?

The first snow of this winter fell in the city last Sunday morning, but it did not stay on the ground long. Since then we have had some winter weather.

Abbeville Medium: "W. H. Daniel of Iva, Anderson County, has a sure cure for scurvy. He has cured several cases and has no doubt of proof of the fact."

Contributors to the columns of the Intelligencer are asked to send their names as well as their non de plume to every article sent to us for publication.

Married, on Sunday, March 2, 1890, by S. T. Richardson, Notary Public, at his residence, Mr. Warren Bates and Miss Carrie Mayfield, both of Anderson County.

Mr. U. E. Seybt, of Jones, Seybt & Co., has gone to the Eastern markets to buy a Spring and Summer stock of goods. Our readers will hear from him when he gets back.

We are indebted to Mr. S. T. Craig for samples of his "Ancient Order of United Workmen" and "La Rabin" brands of cigars. Try them, and you will enjoy a good smoke.

We were glad to meet our esteemed old friend, Maj. Jas. Thompson, in the city Monday. His eye is still giving him trouble, and it is feared he will never regain his sight.

Married, at the residence of the bride's father, on Wednesday, February 27th, 1890, by Rev. C. M. Rogers, Mr. C. F. Children and Miss H. L. Children, all of Anderson County.

A. G. Means, the live clothier, wants to make room for his immense Spring stock of goods, and is now offering his remnant of fall and winter goods at wonderfully low prices. Read his new advertisement.

If there is any one thing that is calculated to make the blood boil with righteous indignation—it is the all too frequent sight of seeing a man cruelly beating or otherwise maltreating some poor ghost of an animal.

The concert to take place at Midway Church (Thursday) evening will be a pleasant occasion, and should be largely attended. Rev. O. B. Smith will deliver a lecture during the evening, and he will give his hearers something interesting, too.

E. W. Taylor & Co. announce to our readers that they "are still in the ring," ready and willing to sell groceries, confectioneries, etc., so cheap that it will make you smile all over. Read their new advertisement.

Maj. A. S. Todd, editor of our neighbor, the Journal, who has been spending the past several months in Baltimore, attending to his Medical College, has returned home. His appearance indicates that Baltimore's climate agrees with him.

The "Star of Bethlehem" should reappear this year, according to astronomical calculations, for the seventh time since the beginning of the Christian era. It was last found by Tycho Brahe in 1572, and was visible several months.

The firm of Barton & Townsend has been dissolved, as will be seen by referring to advertisement in another column. Mr. Barton will continue the business, and will always be prepared to fill orders for lumber and other building material.

Under the caption of a "Neglected Industry," we publish an interesting article this week on the first page of the Intelligencer. It is in reference to a canning factory, an enterprise that would pay in Anderson, and which we would like to see established here.

Our young friend, R. M. Baker, is delighted that the World's Fair will be held in Chicago in 1892. He says he is going to get married that year, and will visit the Fair on his bride's tour. Now, girls, don't go to counting him on the strength of this, for he is already "mortgaged."

List of letters remaining in the post-office for the week ending March 5, 1890: J. N. Anderson, Mrs. Mary Bentley, Nathaniel Brown, Allen Gibson, David Harris, R. A. Hulse, Jr., Jim Harris, Harry Anderson, Lewis Logan, Henry Nelson, C. C. Nail, E. Prince, Miss Clara Stewarts.

Dr. P. A. Whittle, who has been spending several weeks in Florida, looking after his property down there, returned home several days ago. He says he expects to spend another large orange crop is very fine, and that the whole State is rejoicing over the discovery of the phosphate deposits.

Dr. A. P. Johnson has returned home from Nashville, Tenn., where he has been spending several months as a Professor in the Dental Department of Vanderbilt University. He has again opened his office on the second floor, above J. M. Hubbard & Co.'s jewelry store, and is ready to serve his friends at any time.

Mr. W. B. McGrunder has tendered his resignation as Chief of the Anderson Police, and it has been accepted by the City Council. His successor has not yet been elected. Mr. McGrunder will devote his whole time to his lively and saleable business. He has just received a fine lot of horses. See advertisement.

Mr. J. H. Hawkins, who has been chief clerk at the Hotel Chiquila since its opening, has resigned the position and returned to his home in Columbia. Mr. E. H. Plummer, of Rome, Ga., is Mr. Hawkins' successor. Mr. Plummer has had years of experience in the hotel business, and is a pleasant, courteous gentleman.

We are in receipt of a descriptive and illustrated pamphlet of Knoxville, Tenn., issued by the Chamber of Commerce of that growing city. We want to see by Mr. B. Arnstein, formerly of Anderson. It is very neatly gotten up, and is one of the best advertising schemes we have seen. Anderson should have something like it.

Mr. T. D. Hewin has about 1000 cords of pine wood for sale, which he will deliver at any time, and at any place in the city, out any length under eight feet. He will have a little box at the butcher shop of E. W. Taylor & Co., just above the Post Office, where you can deposit your order and the wood will be delivered in a short time afterwards.

Deputy Sheriff Green returned from Alabama last Monday having in charge a white man named Jas. Freeman, formerly of this County, who is charged with selling property on which he had given a mortgage to J. E. Peoples. After selling the property, Freeman fled to Alabama, where he was arrested. He is in jail, and will probably stay there until the next term of Court.

Mr. J. A. Shanklin, who has been engaged in business in the city with Mr. J. E. Peoples for several months past, has returned to his home, Pendleton, and will engage in farming. Next fall he will return to Anderson. Mr. Shanklin is a young man, and has a host of friends in Anderson. The Intelligencer can judge his friends in wishing him a big harvest from his farm.

Wm. F. Norris, colored, died at his home near McCormick Church last Sunday, after a short illness, aged 35 years. Wm. was one of Anderson County's best citizens, and was highly esteemed by his white neighbors, as well as by those of his own race. He lived a sober, upright life, and by his good management as a farmer, had bought and paid for a good tract of land. He had long been a subscriber to the Intelligencer.

Col. J. W. Norris has laid upon our table some oak fibre. It is strong and some of the fibres are almost as long as the original stalk. It seems to us that the fibre would make good, strong bagging, and we hope that the experiments now being made to manufacture it into bagging will be successful. It would prove a great blessing to the South, and inaugurate a new enterprise that would add thousands of dollars to our resources.

Now is the time to clean up your premises, and put everything in order for the coming summer. White wash should be applied freely, and all places where filth has accumulated should be thoroughly cleaned and lime or other disinfectants used. The city authorities have the power not only to have the public streets and alleys policed, but the premises of private individuals as well. The earlier in the Spring this matter is attended to the better it will be for the health of the city.

Our good old friend, Mr. J. S. Gassaway, of Martin Township, came to see us the other day and renewed his subscription to the Intelligencer for another year, and, as he did so, remarked that he didn't owe a dollar in the world. Mr. Gassaway is one of our oldest and best citizens, and has made a success of farming. He has never been involved in a law suit, and has always been noted for his uprightness and integrity. He has about reached his three score years and ten, and when he passes away his place will be hard to fill.

A new schedule went into effect on the Port Royal & Western Carolina Railroad last Sunday, and now a through train is run from Greenville to Charleston without change, making the trip in twelve hours. The morning train on the S. V. R. R. leaves Anderson now at 8 o'clock, making connection at McCormick with the through train from Greenville, arriving in Anderson at 3:15 p. m. Persons along the line may go to Augusta, spend three or four hours and return home the same day. This is, we believe, the best schedule for any line, and is one that should be largely attended. Rev. O. B. Smith will deliver a lecture during the evening, and he will give his hearers something interesting, too.

Capt. P. K. McCully's faithful Newfoundland dog, "Nero," died a few days ago, aged about twelve years. "Nero" was a great favorite with the boys, and when the dog would come out on the streets to practice running, he would be delighted and would run with them. He would also go with the boys to school and at play time would enjoy the sports apparently as much as the boys who participated in them. Frequently he would go to Capt. McCully's store, and when that gentleman got ready to go home at night, would accompany him and carry the Captain's umbrella or dinner basket as carefully as an errand boy would do.

Anderson can now boast of one of the best iron foundries in the Piedmont belt. Dr. R. F. Diver is the proprietor. He has spent a great deal of time and money in fitting up this enterprise, which is now completed and in operation. The first casting was made last Saturday in the presence of a considerable number of our citizens, most of whom witnessed for the first time the casting of iron. The Doctor has his Machine Shops and Foundry well equipped, and is able to supply, on short notice, all kinds of castings or machinery fresh from his own shops, made right here in Anderson. He is a home enterprise, with a worthy proprietor. Call and see his fire-dogs and other things he has made in Anderson. We are glad to note the completion of such an enterprise.

Two young men, Messrs. Sloan McConnell and Frank Bailey, became involved in a difficulty at Midway Church on Wednesday night of last week, and resulted in the latter shooting the former. The affair, it seems, was caused by some alleged action or conduct by Mr. McConnell toward a young lady, a niece of Mr. Bailey. There had been a singing at the Church on the evening mentioned above, and at the conclusion of the exercises Mr. Bailey approached Mr. McConnell and spoke some words to him. The latter would not leave a row at the Church, and asked him to go off of the grounds with him. They then walked off together. In a few minutes mutual friends decided to follow the gentlemen, and, if possible, prevent a difficulty, but before they could get to them two pistol shots were heard. Hurrying to the spot of action, the friends found that Mr. McConnell had been shot in the stomach, and that Mr. Bailey was bleeding from a painful wound in the head. Mr. McConnell was carried to his brother's home, and Dr. Dockett was at once sent for. When the Doctor reached the wounded man, he soon discovered that the wound was not a fatal one, as the ball had struck a rib and, glancing around the body, lodged near the spine. Mr. Bailey came to the Sheriff and offered to surrender. Our latest information is that Mr. McConnell is doing well and will soon be out again. The affair is deeply regretted by the friends of both gentlemen.

The following clipping from an exchange is referred to Anderson's progressive citizens for consideration. We believe such an enterprise would pay in our growing city: "While in conversation with a gentleman recently, who is well posted in such matters, we asked him to name some manufacturing enterprise that could be started with a small outlay of capital, and he suggested a soap factory. The suggestion is a good one, and one our people ought to adopt. Every year our people buy large quantities of soap from Northern manufacturers, when they could manufacture the same article just as well themselves, and not only keep the money paid for it at home, but afford a profit to those engaged in manufacturing it. Increase home industrial activity and furnish employment for workmen. The cost of soap in one family is a mere trifle, but in the aggregate the amount paid for it in our County each year is quite large. Suppose a family pays ten dollars a year for soap, and there are two hundred families in town, $2,000 goes out of the town every year that should, by all means, stay at home. In such a town a soap factory would be a paying investment, for it could command not only the local trade, but also considerable from the adjoining country. Almost any building that would keep out the rain would do for a factory, and the outfit would be comparatively inexpensive. Cotton seed oil is admitted to be excellent for soap making better, indeed, than the mixture of putrid greases generally used for that purpose, and the other ingredients can be had in almost any Southern town."

The Sullivan Manufacturing Company. Tuesday morning we paid a visit to the Sullivan Manufacturing Company's buildings, which are located opposite the C. & G. depot, on East Broadway street, and must confess that we were greatly surprised to find such an extensive plant in operation. The Company began erecting their buildings a few weeks ago, and it was only a few days ago that our people realized that another important enterprise had been established in our growing city. The present plant is building is 300 feet long, and 25 feet wide, and from one end to the other all the latest improved wood working machinery, necessary for manufacturing anything for building purposes and used in making agricultural implements, is being placed in position. Several of these machines are very new, and are being worked to their full capacity.

Mr. M. Smith is superintendent of the plant, and Mr. J. A. Brisky foreman. Both of these gentlemen are experienced and first-class workmen. At present the Company is working about fifteen hands, the majority of whom are engaged in making goods for distribution. The Company are behind with their orders, and if they had electric lights would work a night force of hands. The Company have met with so much encouragement that they have decided to enlarge their buildings and double their capacity in a short time. A 30-horse power engine is used in running the machinery.

The Company will keep on hand at all times a big lot of doors, sash blinds, lumber, shingles, mouldings—in fact, anything needed in constructing a building. They will classify their lumber, and will sell it in green state or dried and dressed. In a short time they will erect an immense and modern drying kiln, and they also propose in a few months to manufacture doors, sash and blinds. For the present they will buy the latter goods in car load lots, and will sell them at low prices.

The Sullivan Manufacturing Company is composed of live, energetic business men, and they will make it to your interest, and you will see them. It is a home enterprise, and deserves the patronage of our people.

A Card. Mr. Editors: In behalf of my mother and family, I desire to return my sincere thanks to the friends and neighbors who so kindly administered to the comforts of my father, Peter B. Brown, during his long illness. I assure them that their many acts of kindness and attention will never be forgotten. P. H. Brown.

A FATHER FULL OF PICTURES.—About a dozen pictures illustrating the remarkable escape of the women against the saloon-keepers of Missouri form a leading feature of Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper this week. Other illustrations show the disastrous wreck of a Sengerfer train in Alabama, the Old Colonial Fair at Hartford, Logging Along the California Big Trees, Opening the Sioux River to Navigation, The Great American Circus, The Siberian Wolf, and foreign scenes of interest, Children in the streets and on the stage, Distress in the Mining Regions, and a picture of Mrs. General Butterfield.

The Farmers' Meeting. A meeting of the farmers and those in sympathy with the aims of that movement was held in the Court House last Monday. There was a pretty fair attendance, but not a large number participated in the proceedings, as was shown by the number of votes cast, which were sixty-five.

The meeting was called to order by Hon. R. P. Clinkscales, Vice-President, the President being absent. The President stated the object of the meeting to be the election of delegates to the Convention to be held in Columbia on 27th inst., to nominate a State ticket to be offered to the State Democratic Convention. Mr. J. P. Smith was requested to act as Secretary.

Hon. J. P. Glenn, after referring to the call of the State Convention, and the objects of this meeting, moved that ten delegates be elected to represent this County in the Convention to be held on the 27th inst. This motion was carried, and the ballot was taken. A motion to instruct the delegates to the Convention was carried.

While the tellers were out counting the votes, the following expressions of opinion as to whether the Convention ought to make nominations:

Mr. Morgan Pack said he was not in favor of making nominations, because he thought he could see a disposition on the part of the leaders to push forward men and not measures.

Mr. M. Berry Williams opposed the nominations, because he did not think it Democratic; this should be left to the Democratic Convention. This called forth some enthusiastic replies.

Mr. J. A. Bowden, said it was to be a fight inside the Democratic party. He said: "We do not intend for the Democratic party to hold the whip over us." In referring to the press, he said in substance: "The newspapers have heretofore generally advised us wrong, and the like opposing whatever line they advise. To assert is one thing, to demonstrate is another."

Hon. J. B. Watson said it struck him as not best to make nominations, but he was not to advise, and would abide by the result, be it what it would.

He went to the Hon. law, homestead and school law, and wanted a new Constitution to reach these and similar evils.

Mr. Geo. W. Miller opposed the nominations.

Senator Murray, being called for, said he did not think it advisable for the Convention to nominate a ticket at this time. He made a strong and sensible speech, and one that seemed to be received favorably by the whole meeting. His remarks called forth frequent applause.

Mr. J. Bolton Watson started to reply to Senator Murray, but the tellers came in with the result of the ballot for delegates, and he did not get to conclude.

The following were the delegates elected: Messrs. A. C. Latimer, W. A. Neal, D. K. Norris, D. W. Hiot, Joseph B. Douthit, J. W. Bowden, J. P. Glenn, R. I. Stewart, W. P. Snelgrove and A. N. Richardson.

The meeting was harmonious, but there was evidence of one or two dispositions to shut off discussion, and a determination not to be advised.

Holland's Store Items. On account of the high river last week our mail did not reach us when due. The rains in this immediate vicinity have not been very heavy.

When the weather admits, putting in gunno is the order. Our farmers are using it extensively.

Our farmers generally are preparing their lands better than usual, owing, in a great measure, to the mild winter which we have had.

Rev. C. Presley is canvassing for some valuable books. If he calls on you, buy one of his books, and thus benefit your self and help a worthy man.

W. A. Hollister sent several days in this country recently. He now tips the beam at 230 pounds.

Mr. Baylis Cooley recently shipped a car load of beaves to Charleston.

The public schools in this Township closed last Friday.

Mr. Willie Hodges, who has been attending College in Newark, N. J., for the past six or eight months, returned home a few days ago. He looks as if the North agrees with him.

The snow on last Saturday night and Sunday was quite a surprise to most of us, as it was generally believed the winter was over.

Williamston Items. The snow, "the beautiful snow," that peppered the turf on last Sunday morning was charming to behold, and yet the word beautiful is inadequate to repress the contemplative joy of the "embryo man," but, alas, like everything bright and lovely it melted away.

A petite man, of the decided brunette type, passed through here amid the splendor and brightness of the moon and stars one evening last week. He was playing in the role of tramp—his acting was good, though yet a novice, and his well-worn solicitation for "water and bread" was very effective, but he was never encored. He went Andersonward from here.

Chicken thieves are "doing" the rounds around here.

The music of the early bird is pleasant to the ear after a rough night in the embrace of the grip.

Miss Lilly Bigby has taken charge of the school formerly taught by Mrs. Vermillion, about six miles from town.

A Mr. Wroton has opened a school of telegraphy here, and has several students—some from abroad.

Mr. Ben Brown has a neat little job printing office, and his work is tasty, and shows a decided and splendid talent for job work. Ben is a man all over.

Mrs. W. J. Bonner, of Due West, after a week's stay with Mrs. G. W. Sullivan, red home Monday.

Mr. W. W. Griffin, our lively man, went to Greenville on Monday to look after "horse flesh." Will is a hustler, and handles first class stock. His name has recently been associated with orange blossoms—our man is sure, but orange blossoms would "grace" his domicile beautifully.

As the face of "Uncle Billy" Smith showed itself from the platform of one of the cars in his train on his arrival here on Monday morning, many expressions of gladness were heard at his recovery from his recent indisposition.

Miss Ella Stephens, one of our most worthy young ladies, went to Anderson Monday afternoon.

Mr. W. A. Stephens has gone on a prospecting trip to Alabama.

Mr. Ed. Acker, a Williamston boy, after railroading down the Mississippi from Vicksburg to New Orleans for several months, has returned to the A. and O. division of the R. and D., his "first love."

Professor Vermillion, of the male school, is now assisted by his wife. The school is flourishing.

The music of wedding bells came floating upon the perfumed breath of Spring.

Prof. Rayhill, the elocutionist, is coming and will instruct a class in the Female College.

Several of our citizens are in the grip of the Russian influenza, and yet our fair land is threatened with another malady called "la nouna." It is described as a lethargic sleep. What next?

The many friends of Mr. Henry Williams were delighted to hear of his promotion. Henry is a former Williamston boy, and of course, his success is pleasing to those who knew him in "And Lang Syne."

The big train put a roaring bosom on our "little" Big Creek.

Dr. Lander and his baby boy, Ernest, went to Greenville last week to see the wonderful horse show.

The Ladies Missionary Society of the Baptist Church will soon celebrate its tenth anniversary. On the occasion of this event Miss Eula Crymes will read an essay, written by herself, on the progress of the organization. Miss Rose Greer will furnish the music for the occasion. These are other features of the programme, but not being familiar I'll desist from further mention.

Rev. D. W. Hiot's name for the Senate is a good one—such men in our legislative halls will soon give a new growth to issues that certainly must some day develop into law.

"Spring time has come again, gentle Anna." E. H. P.

Notes from Townville. Sunday night was decidedly the coldest of the season.

Rev. J. Walter Dickson is expected to deliver an address before the Townville Literary Club on next Friday night, the 7th.

The first Quarterly Conference for Townville Circuit for this year will be held at School, near Fair Play, next Saturday and Sunday.

School Commissioner Russell has been on a tour of inspection among the schools of the Fork, and we trust he found them in a satisfactory condition. Mr. Russell is certainly a zealous official.

We are pained to chronicle the prostration of Mrs. Harvey C. Routh. She is an estimable lady, the daughter of the late Rev. E. F. Hyde, and her many friends here and elsewhere hope for her a speedy restoration to health.

Mrs. Noah W. Grant, who has been so seriously sick for some time, is somewhat improved. We are glad to say.

Dr. Searles went into the hill country of Oconee last week, and brought off in proud triumph his bony bridle. Oconee's impoverishment is Townville's enrichment, to say nothing of the Doctor's immense gain.

Mrs. Jarrard, wife of L. J. Jarrard, Esq., of Fair Play, died Monday last. She was in the last hours of her death when she was in worst health. The blow falls crushingly upon the fond husband and bright little children. She was a devout Christian, and was a member of Jones' Chapel. She was a native of White County, Georgia, and was a Miss England.

Mr. Tom Kelley, of Townsboro, Oconee County, greeted his many friends here for the day or so last week. Tom is one of the best young men in Oconee.

Honea Path Items. The Prerian Literary Society held a public meeting Monday night, February 24th. The programme was as follows:

Reading—J. H. Shibley, Honea Path. Declaration—W. A. Sharp, Anderson, C. H.

Extempore Speaker—Henry Newton, Pendleton.

Oration—Subject, "George Washington;" C. H. Burns, Honea Path.

Debate—"Resolved, That the United Will Decline as the Nations of Antiquity." Affirmative: T. O. Kirkpatrick, Honea Path; L. C. Branyon, Due West; J. H. Harper, Woodville. Negative: W. H. Pepper, Sterling Grove; J. T. West, Princeton; E. M. Gathman, Abbeville.

C. H. Burns, Honea Path, moved the question was decided in favor of the Negative.

Rev. Regus preached here last Sunday. The Quarterly Conference will meet here on Saturday before the 3rd Sunday.

Mr. M. I. Brook has sold about one hundred buggies and carts the last few months. He has just received a large addition to his stock, and is determined to sell at the very lowest figures.

Prof. E. H. Self has just closed a writing school at this place. He has had a large class, and they express themselves as much pleased with the faithful and efficient work he has done.

M. C. E. Homer has brought in another lot of apples and oranges. We wonder what has become of the stock that was in the country before, that so many are being sold now.

Don't forget the Concert Friday night, 7th inst. P.

Corner Note. The semi-annual examination of McFallsville Academy occurred last Friday. The weather was very bad in the morning, and a very small crowd was present. It was highly praised by all who were there, which is a sufficient reason that it should be mentioned. The pupils did their part well, which was indeed creditable to both pupils and teachers. The examination began at 9 o'clock and lasted till 12 o'clock, when an excellent dinner was served and highly enjoyed by all. After dinner the Trustees met in the Church to transact all the business that might come before them. At 3 o'clock all were seen wandering on their homeward journey well pleased and paid for the kind attention they gave us.
